Summit 7 Systems Named to CRN's Inaugural Next-Gen 250 List

Huntsville, AL, August 22, 2011: Everything Channel today announced that Summit 7 Systems was named to the first ever 2011 CRN Next-Gen 250 list. The CRN Next-Gen 250 is an annual listing of innovative and nimble business and technology integrators, solution providers, and resellers in North America offering solutions and services in cloud computing, mobility, unified communications, virtualization and other emerging technologies.

The CRN Next-Generation 250 list is comprised of the most exciting new solution provider organizations (founded 2000-2011) bringing new and emerging implementation ideas and business models to the market.

"We are thrilled to be named to the Next-Gen 250 list," said Scott Edwards, President of Summit 7 Systems. "The Summit 7 Systems team works day in and day out to bring innovation and thought leadership to the most difficult knowledge management, collaboration and enterprise search problems in the industry."

Kelley Damore, VP, Editorial Director, Everything Channel said "In today's competitive environment solution providers have to do more than just talk about innovation. The ability to quickly implement new processes, models and technologies is what drives margins and the bottom line. The CRN Next-gen 250 highlights the most interesting new solution providers who are demonstrating such innovation and uncovers the new techniques and technologies that are driving their success."
